

Amit JainKeybank

Amit leads the Predictive Modeling & Advanced Analytics teams at KeyBank and is responsible for all credit analytics and driving growth in lending businesses. He is an experienced leader in the fields of decision sciences, strategy and advanced analytics within the financial services leveraging innovation in predictive sciences to solve complex business problems. Prior to joining Key, Amit spent about 9 years at PNC where he led the Analytics & Portfolio Management teams across different lending businesses.

Amit has a Bachelors in Commerce and Masters in Economics from Punjab University in India and an MBA from Cleveland State University. Amit is a CFA Charter holder and has Financial Risk Manager (FRM) certification as well. Amit has completed the executive program on "Artificial Intelligence - Implications for Business Strategy" from MIT and has earned a certificate in Machine Learning from Stanford University.