

Bailey DeVries
Office of Investment and Innovation
U.S. Small Business Administration

Ms. DeVries serves as the Associate Administrator and Head of the Office of Investment and Innovation where she leads the Agency's portfolio private investment partnerships and innovation funding programs. These programs include the Small Business Investment Company (SBIC) Program, the Small Business Innovation Research and Technology Transfer Programs (SBIR/STTR), and SBA's innovation ecosystem support organization (ESO) development Programs including the Growth Accelerator Fund Competition (GAFC) and the Federal and State Technology Partnership Program (FAST).

Ms. DeVries comes to the SBA after a private sector career in the asset management and defense industries. She has served in leadership and executive roles while at T. Rowe Price, Greenspring Associates, Trail Mix Ventures, and Sotera Defense. She began her career at strategy and management consulting firm, CEB now Gartner Research.

Ms. DeVries holds an M.B.A. from Georgetown University, an M.S. from Northwestern University, and a B.A. from Wake Forest University. She is a native Chicagoan and she has lived in Maryland with her husband and two daughters for several years.